

A Jamtastic Experience

The Afternoon Tea Party

On Thursday 7th March, we held an afternoon tea party in our school in order to bring together the people in our community.

During the week, students who volunteered to help out with the event prepared for the afternoon by making jam tarts, scones and classic Victoria sponge cakes using healthy jam supplied by Fraser Doherty who is also known as “jam Boy”.

Locals in the community were invited to take part in this event completely free of charge, and personally, I believe that it was a really good opportunity for me to get to know the people in my community better.

Our special guests were served tea in bone china cups and saucers and delicious homemade cakes and scones served from delicate china cake stands.

The afternoon was not all about refreshments; our guests were entertained with a lively game of bingo, superbly "called" by our very own Mr Smith. Our fantastic choir sang Oom-pah-pah from 'Oliver' before asking our guests to join in with 'We'll Meet Again'.

Everyone enjoyed the afternoon and we received such wonderful comments and feedback.

"We really enjoyed it" – Vanessa and Kenneth

"It was a really entertaining afternoon, with lovely students. What a brilliant way of bonding between young and old." – Jane

Refreshing and uplifting, I had a really good time." - Daniel

"It was great joining with all of you. I am looking forward to the next one" - Elaine

We would like to thank Fraser Doherty of SuperJam for the very kind donation of the delicious jam which we used for the cakes and to serve alongside our scones and cream
